Office of Legislative Counsel

1. Mr. Feeney, of the office of Congressman McCormack, suggested to me that this would be a most appropriate time to request the Congressman to make the necessary introductions to Congressman Cox in connection with the latter's investigation of Charitable Foundations, as Congressman McCormack had just done a considerable favor for Congressman Cox which would have to be reciprocated. DDA has been informed of this but prefers to continue his introductions through Congressman Wigglesworth. As a result of this introduction, Mr. Cox has informed Mr. Wolf that he will do everything to protect the CIA's interest and will discuss it with him further when he returns to Washington in about 10 days.
